

Marine Biodiversity Indicators

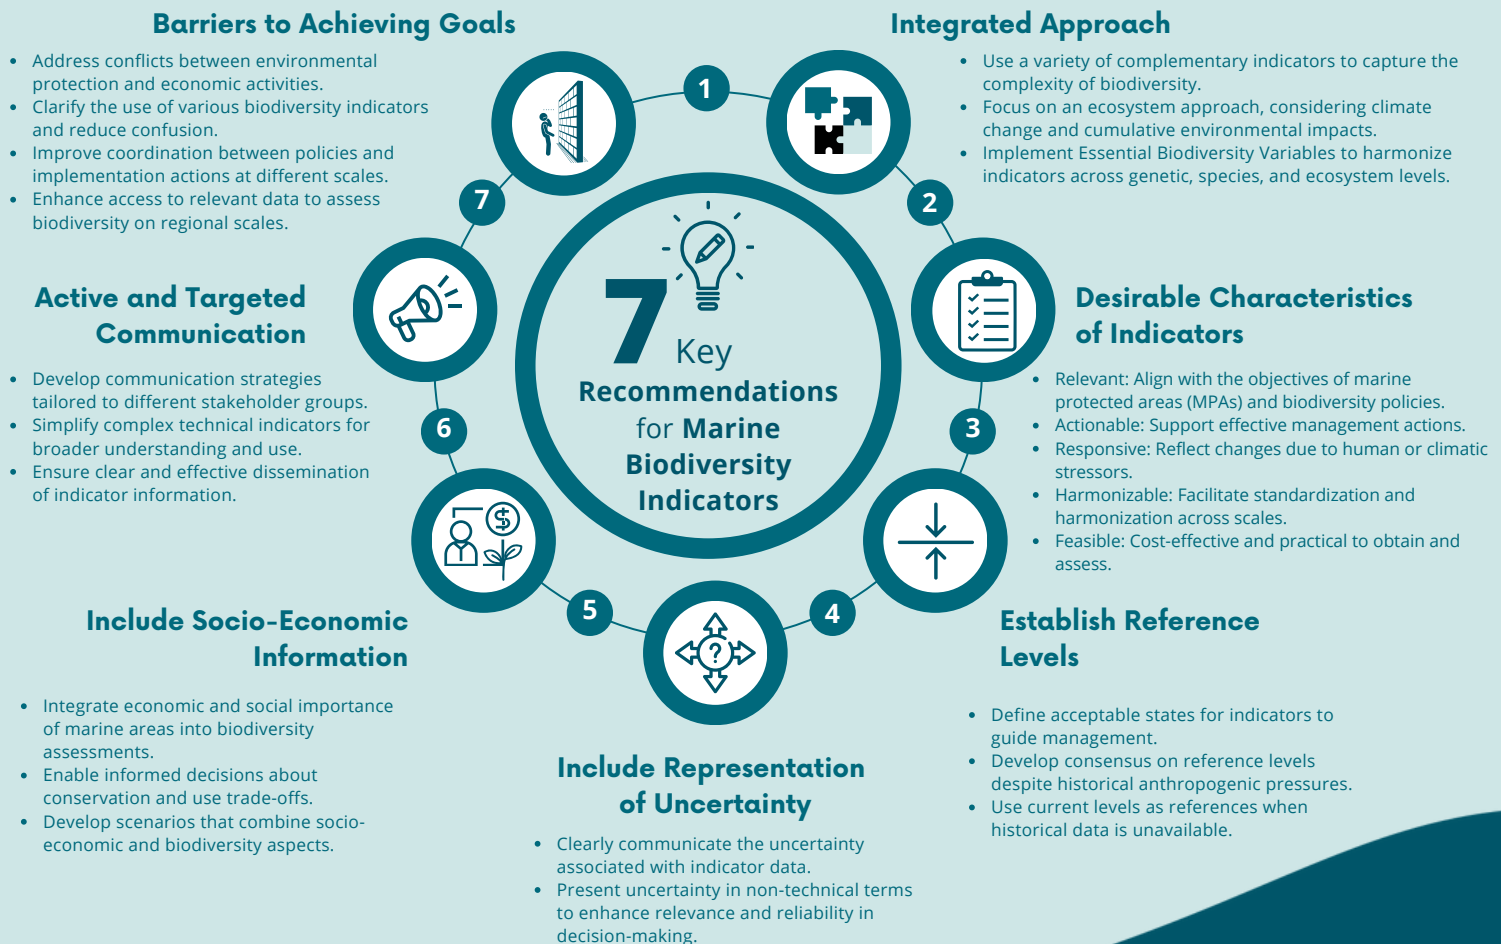

Key Insights from

Stakeholder Workshops

Introduction

What characterizes useful indicators of marine biodiversity? In 2023 we had three workshops where stakeholders and B-USEFUL project researchers met to discuss this. The valuable outputs of these discussions have been distilled into seven key pieces of advice, summarized below. These recommendations will guide the ongoing work of the B-Useful project in developing and assessing biodiversity indicators.

Conclusion and Next Steps

The insights gained from this workshop will inform the B-Useful project's continued development of marine biodiversity indicators. Current results, along with forthcoming evaluations from future workshops, will be used in defining scenarios and developing decision support tools.